THE "SHINGLE" ORDINANCE

A Largely Attended and Interesting Hearing On Its Modification

Surplus $400,000.

Experts abounded and a broadside of data and statistics was hurled at the Committee on Claims and Rules in the addermanic chamber at City Hall on Wednesday evening. The committee had granted a public hearing in response to a petition from some severally of the South Side, who begged for a "reasonable ordinance."

As Alderman Bartlett, chairman of the committee, explained the ordinance was adopted last year after a hearing had been granted and after due deliberation. Despite this fact, however, a lumberman's magazine referred to the measure as having been "jammed through" the Board of Aldermen and the petitioners declared they had no the terest in municipal affairs.

Besides Chairman Bartlett, Aldermen Rice, Murphy and Cabot sat in the committee while Aldermen Blanchard, Hollis, Jamieson and Alley were present, as well as City Solicitor Bishion of Porbush. There were probably fifty a persons present.

Mr. Thomas W. Proctor of Chestnut Hill, opened the arguments, prefacing his remarks with the statement that he did not appear in the interest of anyone but himself, though he had agreed to introduce other speakers who supported the petition. Mr. Proctor of cleared the vision of the searching to be applied to the whole not searched, who spoke next, declared he was a lumber man and the petition of the searching to the presence of the proposed a cacording to conditions. He read letters of fire momentance from James B. Cook, Louis B. Harding, Frank W. Hallowell and Arthur T. Bradley, all of Chestnut Hill.

Mr. William E. Litchfield, who spoke next, declared he was a lumber man or Chestnut Hill.

Mr. William E. Litchfield, who spoke next, declared he was a lumber man but not in the shingle business. He believed such an ordinance would retard building and development

The contention that fires are spread by sparks falling on shingled roofs is sound so far as it applies to such roofs in thickly settled districts but is hardly applicable to the occasional building in the outlying districts, and which if set on fire in this manner will not endanger a large neighborhood.

While the general principles of the new ordinance are in the right direction, there should be some modification on the lines above indicated.

DEATH OF MAUDE KENDALL

MRS. MARY LATHROP WATERMAN

CONCERT

There were eight numbers on the musical program presented by the musical program included works by the famous composers, Boccherini, Widor, Dvorak, Bohm. Cadman and Strauss.

The opening numbers, Minuet, Serenade and Slavonic Dance for piano, violin and 'cello by the Julia Pickard, Trio composed of three exceptional artists, Miss Julia Pickard, violin, Miss Alma La Palme, 'cello, and Miss Isabella Puffer, piano, deserves especial mention for the well balanced and sympathetic manner in which they played difficult selections.

A group of songs, 'My Laddie,' "Still As the Night,' and 'The Four Leaf Clover,' by Miss Marie Sladen, who has a rich contralto voice of excellent quality and power, were received with much mertied applause. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Florence Carter, who was alsoheard in a very pleasing group of piano solos, 'Capriccio,' "Pierrot Reveur' and 'Humoresque,' and her touch was very light and delicate. Miss Marion Wells, a reader of unusual ability and versatility, contributed two interesting selections entitled "The Punishment of Robert," and "The End of the Bridge."

A group of songs, 'The Heart of Henry, 'Star' and "The Slave Song,' by Miss Margaret Baker, were very pleasing to the audience as her voice is of a clear bell-like quality and swestness and she has a very wide range.

Miss Lillian West gave a wonderful and masterly interpretation of 'Seguidilla,' "Traumerei' and 'To the Sea," The closing number, 'Andantino' and 'Allegro Grazioso' from Jadassohn Trio in F beautifully rendered by the Trio, completed a program of rare excellence.

CHRISTIAN FORUM

Mary Antin, the speaker at the Christian Forum meeting to be held in Eliot Church next Sunday evening, a Russian immigrant, author and so-cial worker, is one of the conspicuous persons in public life today.

The tens of thousands who have read her famous book, "The Promised Land," need no introduction to Mary Antin.

To those not thus favored it may be said, that, coming to this country from Russia with her parents twenty years ago, a child of thirteen, with no word of English and no experience of life outside the Jewish Pale, within sixteen years she produced one of the two great books of the time.

Mary Antin, who in private life is Mrs. Amadeus W. Grabau, wife of a Columbia University professor, was fortunate in having her ability early recognized by her family who made to reject, either, any or all bids.

The piece is one that offers a whirlwind of complexities and an amazing bundle of absurdities. It is solely built for laughing purposes and strikes its mark with a terrific bang. It is one continuous roar of laughter from beginning to end. The play is presented with the original cast headed by Taylor Holmes and Walter Jones, two well-known farceurs, whose clever work in other successes is familiar to New England playgoers. Out-of-town playgoers should bear in mind that the management of the Plymouth make a specialty of paying strict and accurate attention to all mail orders and remittances should be made payable to Fred E. Wright, manager.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"Common Clay" now in the eighth week of its run at the Castle Square Theatre, is like a ball of snow, which, as it rolls down hill, aggrandizes and gathers impetus. Since the play was produced the first week in January and word was passed about that an extraordinary novelty was to be seen at traordinary novelty was to be seen at the Castle Square, the attendance grew the Castle Square, the attendance grew daily to such proportions that nundreds of people were turned away. Even the coming of the Lenten season has made no appreciable difference in the size of the audiences. Mary Young as Ellen Neal, John Craig as Judge Filson, and William P. Carleton as Hugh Fullerton continue to do their share to make the play a success. A souvenir of the 100th performance will be given every patron on next Monday evening.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—"The Lilac Domino," which charmed all New York for five solid months, and wnich is now playing to immense crowds nightly at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, promises to be one of the brilliant society events of the theatrical season, as the demand for boxes and reservations for theatre-parties exceeds that of any other attraction in months. The offering is made by the Andreas Dippel Opera Company, an organization formed for the purpose of advancing and elevating the standards of light opera in America, and producing new and standard operas on a scale commensurate with that of the Opera Comique in Paris. One of the most remarkable attributes of "The Lilac Domino" is its power to charm and please any kind of an audience, and every person in the audience. Not only people of education and musical culture, but those whose knowledge of music is most elementary and enchanted with the charming melodic beauty of the score and lyries, which have plenty of swing and go, and an American audience appreciates. It has fun and melody in equal proportions, and is an operetta which no lover of music can afford to miss. have plenty of swing.

than 20 times. Jack Ross, the Melrose goal tend, with one exception, played a perfect game.
Capt. Harry Carley scored both of Newton's goals, and Harold Leavitt, assisted by a Newton High player, caged the only Melrose point. After the second period was five minutes old Carley scooped in a loose puck, and with nobody in front of him he slammed it at the Melrose cage. Ross saw it coming and attempted to stop it with his stick; but, unfortunately for Melrose, the disk bounced over it into the back of the cage.

the disk bounced over it into the back of the cage.

The second point, also made by Carley, was scored on a clever piece of individual work, in which clever skating, dodging and dribbling figured. The point made by Melrose High was more or less of a gift. A Newton player accidentally drove the puck out in front of his own goal, and Harold Leavitt, who was nearby, took quick advantage of the mistake and scored.

I am not going to speak about wo-man suffrage—I will say that I have read a great deal about it, but have not read a single argument against it that was worth considering—about the strongest argument that I have heard against giving woman the privilege of voting is that she cannot become a policeman, as though to become a policeman was the highest object of man's ambition, and anybody could not be a policeman should not vote.—The late Archbishop P. To the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, the American Board of Missions, and all other persons interested in the petition herein-after mentioned WHERBAS, Maria Barker executrix of the will of Felicia H. Barker, late of said Newton, has presented to said Court her petition in equity representing that it appears by the inventory of the estate of said deceased that she died seized of an undivided half interest in 26128 sq. ft. of land in said Newton with the building numbered 370 Wolcott St. thereon and that she died possessed of certain bonds and of certain deposits in Savings Banks; that the Tax Commissioner of said Commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of Section 19 of Part IV of Chapter 490 of the Acts of 1909 has determined the value of said real estate to be $1450, and the value of said personal property has been accepted by the petitioner; that said Commissioner has allowed a deduction for debts and expenses of $687.70, and has certified the tax payable by the petitioner to the Treasurer and Receiver General under the provisions of Chapter 563 of the Acts of 1907 and Acts amendatory thereof at $105.48.

And further representing that the aforesaid tax is computed at 2% on $5274.01 on the theory, as to the construction of said will and the codicit thereto that the respondent Maria Barker (who is a sister of the testatrix) took said real estate in fee and also took outright the residue of the personal property, viz: that said codicil amounted to an ineffective attempt to cut down an absolute gift made to said Maria Barker by said will; that if the aforesaid construction of said will and codicil is not correct (viz: if said Maria Barker took outright said real estate only and took no more than a life interest in the residue of the personal property, or if she took only a life interest in the residue of the personal property, or if she took only a life interest in the residue of the personal property, or if she took only a life interest in the residue of the personal property and in and succession tax of $25; or no tax at all.

And the petitioner further represents that she is in doubt as to the legal effect of said will and codicil and says that she cannot safely pay said fax without the instructions of this Court and accordingly prays for instructions upon the following questions:

(1) What estate does said Maria Barker take in said real estate?

(2) What interest does said Maria Barker take (subject to debts of the testatrix and expenses) in (a) the wearing apparel, furniture, bricabrac, books and other personal effects of the testatrix? (b) the bonds above mentioned? (c) the deposits in Savings Banks above mentioned?

(3) If said Maria Barker takes the residue of the property outright, is the same subject to the pecuniary legacies mentioned in the codicil, or does she take the entire residue, subject only to the pecuniary legacies mentioned in the will?

(4) What tax, if any, shall the petitioner pay to the Treasurer and Receiver General of said Commonwealth?

The Massachusetts Forestry Association is sending out a bulletin warning The Massachusetts Forestry Association is sending out a bulletin warning people against tree repair fakirs, in which it states that this new evil is to be found not only in Massachusetts. but in nearly every section of the country where tree repair work is being done. Such persons have usually had but little experience and yet pose as "experts." They claim to have some mysterious insecticide which will render trees immune from further attacks by insects. This fluid really does an injury to the trees and should not be used in any case. The Association emphasizes two things: "First, secure an honest and efficient party to do your work; secondly, have him inspect your trees once a year and make necessary repairs." The Association will welcome any information which will lead to further discovery and prosecution of the fake "tree surgeon" in Massachusetts.

Mr. William M. Noble entertained a party of relatives and friends on Saturday evening at his residence on Bracebridge road, Newton Centre, the occasion being an informal celebration of his birthday.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with pink and red roses and in the dining-room, where refreshments were served, the roses were arranged effectively on the table. A large birthday cake surrounded by candles numbering the years of his age, formed an attractive centrepiece. The guests were entertained with music, and five tables of bridge were arranged with a prize at each table.

The principle comedy roles were taken by Mr. Herbert S. Kempton, Mr. Clinton B. Willey, Mr. Gluyas Williams, and Mr. Kenneth Kempton.

Others in the cast who did some clever acting were, Mr. C. I. DeWitt, Mr. Prescott Wellman, Mr. Joseph Garland and Miss Margaret Kempton. It was one of the best entertainments ever given by the members of the League, who are winning quite a reputation for presenting good "shows." The play was excellently staged under the direction of Mr. C. I. DeWitt, who also coached the performers, and to whose efforts the success of the production was largely due. Alderman Bartlett said that the city could save $1000 by omitting the minicipal primary and called attention to the preferential voting system recommended by the recess committee on City Charters and which if adopted by the Legislature might give an opportunity to try that method. The great fear which had been expressed that under this plan a minority candidate might be elected, he believed, would not materialize after the first election. Mr. Bartlett wanted the bill amended to abolish the city primary but was not sustained by the board. His motion to change the title of the bill so as to make it clear that the bill so as to make it clear that the bill so as to make it clear that the bill so as to make it clear that the bill so as to make it clear that the bill so defended by Alderman Winslow believed that the preferential plan had great advantages and as the present bill would not take effect until the fall of 1916 favored no action at the present time, as the board would have time to present the matter to the next Legislature. Alderman Winslow opposed the referendum saying that the average voter would know but little about the subject and will usually vote "Yes."

Adderman Hollis thought that some action should be taken to abolish party designations for under the present system good men would not take a party nomination, and the new pland would appeal to them as more of a business proposition.

An order to allow $5000 for work by the Forest Commissioner on private estates aroused considerable discussion over the extent of the work to be done, Alderman Clark asking to have the order broadened to include what he called "tree surgery." Commissioner Colton stated that a law of 1914 allowed this work to be done for destruction of the elm beetle, the leopard moth and the tent caterpillar, the cost to be assessed upon the property. Alderman Clark's motion to have the order include "general tree work" was defeated and the original order adopted.

We have adorned the triangular beds throughout the city putting many of them into shrubbery while others have been planted to flowers in order to provide an object lesson to the citizens to have gardens of their own. We were paying an excessive price for our nursery stock while we had plenty of waste land here in Newton, where such stock could be easily raised. At Monthly Meeting of Newton Board of Mt. Ida Council Royal Arcanum Celebrates Newton Royal Arch Chapter Gives Successitul

The twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the Mt. Ida Council, Royal Arcanum, which was held Monday evening in Dennison Hall, Newtonville, was a most noteworthy social occasion and attracted almost three hundred members and their friends from the various lodges.

From Secretary Charles D. Cabet we learn the following interesting facts of the Council and its work during the quarter-century just closed. The Council was instituted March 11, 1890, with a charter membership of forty residents of Newtonville. Of these, twenty are still members of this Council, and fifteen have passed away, During these years, the total number of deaths of members is 31, and the beneficiaries of these $86,427.77, while there has been paid into the fund for that purpose $152,769.50. The Royal Arcanum Hospital Association, established in 1903, has paid, for hospital service, $294.00, for members of this Council, and about the same amount has been paid the Association for this purpose. Entertainment

There were more than three hundred guests present at the "Ladies' Night" entertainment given Monday evening at Temple Hali, Newtonville, under the auspices of the Newton Royal Arch ama attracted almost three hundred members and their friends from the various lodges.

The entertainment program was of exceptional merit, and included nine numbers. It opened with a piano solo, "The Bees," by Clair Leonard, rendered with fine execution, and an amusing feature, which was not on the program occurred when the electric lights suddenly went out, and the music was interrupted; but the young pianist was not in the least disconcerted and the audience encored him most enthusiast tically.

Wilma Dearborn Carter, an artist of considerable note, entertained delightfully with readings, "The Scene from Madame Butterfig," Song Stories, and a monologue, "A Type We Sometimes Meet," and held her audience captive from start to finish.

Vocal selections, "I hear a thrush at eve," and "Less than the dust," by Miss E. Agnes Wallace were very pleasingly rendered and Mr. Abbott Bassett's recited an original poem entitled "The Devil in Newtonville," which made a decided "hit."

Grand Regent, C. Edgar Searing made some interesting congratulatory in the state of the date of the congratulatory with readings with followed. Grand Regent, C. Edgar Searing made some interesting congratulatory remarks to the Lodge, and following the entertainment a reception to the Grand Officers was tendered.

Refreshments were served in the banquet hall, a large banner bearing the inscription "Welcome," "Mt. Ida Council" "1890—1915" was hung.

The evening closed with a well-arranged order of dances, including Waltzes, One-steps, Gallops, Two-step German, Portland Fancy and extras with music by the Colonial Singing Orchestra of Waltham.

It was a very pleasant social affair and considered one of the most successful ever given by the lodge.

From Secretary Charles D. Cabat we learn the following made and edilabra. An orchestra was in attendance for the dancing which followed at 10.15 which furnished delightful entertainment for the guests. It consisted and respect to a school of an exhibition of modern society dancing, cleverly executed by Missa Frances E. Hartwell and Mr. E. Ralph Kenneson of New York.

The affair was most enjoyable and successful and the Chapter still maintains its record for the high standard of its entertainments.

It was under the efficient manage ment of the officers of the Chapter, Mr. Wm. H. Colgan, high priest, and Mr. A. Sidney Bryant, secretary.

AN APPEAL FOR WORK

Citizens Are Asked By Local Committee To Give Employment At Once

There is much distress this winter due to lack of employment among honest and efficient workmen, this distress being so acute that Governor Walsh recently appointed a Committee of the State, under the title "Massachusetts Committee to Promote Work." As its title indicates, the object of this Committee is to give the unemployed man and woman wages, and not charity.

In the furtherance of its duties the State Committee is endeavoring to secure local committees in each city and town of the State, whose duty it is to bring to the attention of the citizens of the city or town the severe conditions now existing, and to urge upon all citizens the great desirability of giving employment NoW. Suffering from lack of employment is always most acute during the winter months, when many classes of work must necessarily stop. There are however, many tasks which, through general custom, are put off until Spring or Summer, but which can be done nearly as well at this season of the year as later on. For instance, cellars can be cleaned and whitewashed, repairs and alterations made to houses; roofs can be mended, and many types of interior painting, deco-

Pof. Hatch of Simmons' College will discuss food products from the home side of the question, showing the nutrient values of different foods and the relation of the same to economic buying. Miss Hatch is at the head of her profession in the knowledge of food values as related to nutrition.

Mr. Charles W. Prescott of Concord, Mass., president of the Massachusetts, will show what is being done to stimulate the direct buying of asparagus. Mr. Prescott has thought out and is practicing a unique system of shipping asparagus in retail amounts direct from his farm to the consumer's house in twelve hours from the time of cutting. PLYMOUTH THEATRE — "The Third Party," the funniest farce the stage ever has had, with Taylor Holmes and Walter Jones heading a very capable cast, will start the third week of its limited engagement next Monday evening at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, where it has been keeping thousands of the playgoers in a riot of laughter for the playgoers in a riot of laughter for the plast week. If you have any worries and want diversion and three hours of solid laughter, take yourself to the Plymouth Theatre, where they guarantee that you will have at least a thousand laughs before the final curtain drops. It came here with the endorsement of six months run in New York and the same length of time in Chicago. "The Third Party" will not be seen outside of Boston this season. Therefore don't delay in seeing it. Thursday and Saturday are the usual matinees given. PLYMOUTH THEATRE - 'hird Party," the funniest farce sual matinees given.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—The 100th performance of "Common Clay," the Harvard prize play by Cleves Kinkead, was celebrated Monday night at the Castle Square Theatre. The enthusiasm of New Englanders over this play does not diminish. The presence of Lent has not affected the size of the audiences. The play bids fair to break all records in the history of John Craig's theatre. "Common Clay" to an extent has been made great by its actors. Miss Mary Young thrills her audiences as she depicts the struggles of Ellen Neal from proverty to renown. John Craig draws with subtle touches the sane, logical jurist with an unguessed past. William Carleton has won many friends with his part which contrasts so sharply the irresponsible college boy and the mature man. Seats are still selling four weeks in advance and it is probable that Mr. Craig will finish out the season with "Common Clay" and put it on in New York City next season. CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE-The MAJESTIC THEATRE—The distinction of scoring the quickest and most substantial hit on record is conceded to the Andreas Dippel Opera Company in "The Lilac Domino," which is now in its third week, and continues to crowd the Majestic Theatre in Boston at every performance with a representative audience, including the leaders in the society and music sets from all surrounding towns as well as Boston. The operetta, which no lover of music can afford to miss, contains more catchy and beautiful airs than have ever been presented in one production, and twenty wonderful songs carry out the story. "Let the Music Play," "Lilac Domino," "I Call You Back to Me," "What Is Done You Never Can Undo," "Where Love Is Waiting," "Song of the Chimes" and "True Love Will Find a Way" are among the most popular numbers. Cleanliness and simplicity have been the watchword of "The Lilac Domino" authors, and not an objectionable line can be found in its tree dainty, wholesome acts, nor is considered. Domino" authors, and not an objectionable line can be found in its three tionable line can be found in its three dainty, wholesome acts, nor does this detract from the charm. The romantic story, interspersed with uproariously funny comedy, is one of the most pleasing that the public has been offered in many years, and is a happy combination of pretty faces, catchy songs, clever dancing and beautiful scenic effects.

WILBUR THEATRE.-The problem now being discussed in Boston is how it is possible to crowd as much laugh-ter as is occasioned by "A Pair of Six-es" in the short space of three hours. es" in the short space of three hours. The average person may go a year without laughing as much or as heartily as he will at a single performance of this sensationally successful farce, which has been attracting all Boston and half of New England to the new and beautiful Wilbur Theatre. Nothing seems to interfere with the prosperity of "A Pair of Sixes" in Boston. Shows come and shows go at the other theatres, but at the Wilbur this delightful farce continues to please huge and laughing audiences at every performance, although this is the twelfth week of its run. This play cannot remain much longer at the Wilbur, and those who desire to see it in its Boston fewer with the seems of the those who desire to see it in its Bos-ton form are advised to make reserva-tions early.

LECTURE ON ILLUMINATED MANUSCRIPTS

Over $600,000 was paid by art lovers and book collectors at the Hosale in 1912 for only a few hundred examples of illuminated manuscripts of the middle ages. These books are the highest prizes sought for by expert and rich collectors, and are becoming scarcer in the market as the years go by, consequently rising in price as they disappear into exclusive private collections and public libraries. Of the making and the careers of some of these great books, Mr. William C. Bamburgh will tell in his lecture which he will give at the Newton Club in connection with an exhibition of examples and facsimiles during the latter part of April. He has been preparing his collection for a number of years, and the examples which he will have thrown upon the stereopticon screen will be of pages of great heauty, showing the wonderful artistry of the mediaeval miniaturists and illuminators who produced and illustrated the books of the rich and princely aristocrats of those times. In many instances, a whole lifetime was spent in the writing and filluminating of a single volume. Little is known of the work of such books, and Mr. Bamburgh on this occasion will describe their production at their careers.

SENATOR WEEKS SPEAKS

Newton residents were much in evidence Wednesday evening at the fourth annual dinner at the Traffic Club of New England, with Mr. Sam W. Manning of West Newton, president of the club, as toastmaster, Senator John W. Weeks of West Newton as the principal speaker, Hon. Seward W. Jones, of Newton Highlands, a director, seated at the head table, while Messrs. Arthur E. Gill of West Newton, Frank J. Hale and H. M. Biscoe of Newton Highlands, C. Peter Clerk, and G. E. Crafts of Newton Centre, W. A. Barrows of Newton William E. Jones and A. de W. Sampson of Newton were noticed at the other tables.

Senator Weeks made an address on "What's the matter with Business" in which he severely criticized government officials and red tape.

"Few persons realize," declared Senator Weeks, "how fast we are drifting toward paternal government and activation and to the Government as a cure for all existing evils. In these days of many things to dand many meetings to attend it is unfair to any audience for a speaker to inflict upon it a long drawn out address. An amedote has been told of the father of James Russell Lowell, whose custom was to preach very short sermons. Upon one occasion he overram his time and one of his parishinomers took him to task for socially his parishinomers took him to task for socially his reply was, "I did not have tume to make it shorter." This is a point which all public speakers should bear carefully in mind and take "the time to make it shorter." The lecturer who occupies one-half his time in working up to the subject rarely is able to finish within the specified limit at an afterwal occupies one-half his time in working who there is also something due the audience and to other parts of the program, as is talking during a lecture or a musical program on the part of the listeners. The Microbe Menace

Our wide general information, in this day of the Sunday newspaper, tells us that the real danger of the time is the quiet microbe. We could even wish that microbes clanked chains, and ther we would know they were about and speed for the prophylactic. The in-numerable devils of the middle ages, invisible but always somewhere in the neighborhood, have been neatly re-placed by the discoveries of bacteri-ology and if we hadn't got used to them, living would be an almost impossible anxious performance. The vacationist, reading the warning issued by his government against the bacterial dangers of simple country living, would stay hopelessly in the city—and then, learning of the bacterial dangers of summer life in town, would eventually be driven to suicide by drowning as the coolest way out of hi

First Beef Extract Factory

Something over a hundred years ago the hacendados (ranchmen) of Uruguay

The carcasses were thrown to the dogs or left on the rolling pampas for the vultures to devour Beef in Uruguay was so plentiful that it was something of a nuisance evidently. Of course that day has passed, but they still have cattle enough down there to convert some 700,000 head into 113,000,000 pounds of jerked beef in one year, most of which is sold to Brazii, Cuba, Porto Rico and other tropical countries. Perhaps but few people know that the first great factory for the production of beef extract was established at Fray Bentos, a little city on the Uruguay river about a hundred miles above river about a hundred miles above Buenos Aires, the cosmopolitan capita of Argentina, and that it is still of Fray Bentos has been called the greatest kitchen in the world. On some days 2,500 head of cattle are slaughtered.—Argonaut.

Flight of the Housefly.

Dr. Hindle of London finds that houseflies tend to travel either against This direction or across the wind. may be directly determined by the ac tion of the wind, or indirectly, owing to the flies being attracted by odors borne by the wind. Fine weather and warmth favor dispersal, and flies travel further in the open country than in towns—probably because the houses offer food and shelter. In thickly housed localities the usual maximum flight is about a quarter of a mile, but in one case a single fly was recovered at a distance of 770 yards-partly over open fenland. When set free in the afternoon flies do not scatter so well as in the morning. Liberated flies of ten mount almost vertically to a height of forty-five feet or more.

There is one highly civilized country in which not one person in four could give their ruler's name. That country is Switzerland. Inference has been drawn by a considerable number of people, and it has been freely talked on the streets, that these particular calls were not answered an account of the nationality of those seeking assistance, and the place where they lived. The features of the contest were so thoroughly noted during the progress of the contest that it is not necessary to go into that part of the details at this time except to state that the votes cast by the friends of the candidates during the final hour of the balloting furnished developments as surprising to the management as to the candidates themselves.

Everywhere the question was asked, "Who will win " and each time the enswer was the same, "No one can tell."

What difficulties were overcome by those who succeeded in the contest only the winners know, but they will soon be forgotten in the delightful litherary already outlined.

Excellent work was done by winners and losers, and the editor and manager wish to extend their grateful appreciation of the excellent work accomplished, and to thank those who contributed in any way to make the contest the huge success that it was. While the Newton Graphic has protitted by the many new readers added to its already large list it will not consider its portion of the undertaking complete until each winner of a trip

There has been some question as to who the officers are of the class of 1916. It has been the custom in this building for the Junior class not to hold an election, but to keep the same officers as chosen the sophomore year. These officers are, Frank Manning, president; Leonard Smith, vice-president; secretary, Miss Helen Picciarelli, and Harold Doherty, treasurer. This week Miss Theresa Peppard has been busy in the model office fulfilling her duties as public stenographer.

Despite the business depression, the demand for graduates of the Business and Clerical courses is surprisingly good. A number have already secured positions, and will finish recitations at the end of this term, April 1, and go to work. Because of trouble with the reflectorscope, Mr. Kidger has postponed his planned entertainment for the Senior Assembly till next Friday. The Seniors will discuss the question, Resolved,—That the policy of the United States should be to increase its army and navy to compete with the armaments of Europe. Charles Capon will give the chief arguments for the resolution, and Charles Parlin against it, an open debate will follow.

Generally girls beat boys in debates, but this was not the case in the debate before the Senior Assembly last Friday. Before the first speaker began, President Stickney called for the minutes of the last meeting, and Miss Bertha Robinson read an extremely interesting report. Stickney then turned the meeting over to the chairman of the Debating Committee, Farrell, who introduced the speakers, and also acted as timekeeper, rapping on the desk at the end of four and a half minutes, thus limiting each speech to four and a half minutes. Charles Bryson the first speaker on the affirma. four minutes as a warning, and ringing a bell at the end of four and a half minutes. Charles Bryson, the first speaker on the affirmative side, said he would convince the class "that the policy of the United States should be to increase its army and navy to compete with the armaments of European countries." He also stated that he would show why the army should be increased, the next one on his side, why a larger navy is necessary, and the last speaker would sum up both of their arguments, and answer what their opponents had to say. Miss Margaret Hinkley spoke next, trying to make clear that armaments did not stand for the affirmative, did a good piece of work in explaining the need of a larger army. The other speakers on the negative side were Misses Campbell and Spencer, John Blackney summed up the arguments for the question. Mr. Kidger, head of the History Department, and Miss Doonan, and Miss Weatherbee of the English Department, and dis poncers, and the redered a unanimous decision in favor of the boys.

Mr. Briggs explained the information bureau connected with this, and the importance of knowing the weather conditions all over the country in the shipping of perishable goods. The facts that New England does not produce 10 per cent of her supply of eggs, and that some of her eggs come from China were brought out. Mr. Briggs advocates "back to the farm" for when you seek to make something you advocates "back to the farm" for when you seek to make something you seek to make something you choose what there is a good demand for. New England must grow more things. The West is beginning to need all she raises, and now it is the producer that dictates terms and prices, not the New England buyer as before. The cities are too congested; farming is the healthlest of occupations. Mr. Briggs won the attention of his audience with a few amusing stories, and Quite an interesting and exciting tourney took place in the lunch room after school on Tuesday, amongst the members of the Fencing Club. Ranlett won from Cunningham in a very close match, the score of which was 5-4. Drew beat Kimball by default. Wetherbee lost to Coach Hayden to the tune of 8-2. Turner did not have much difficulty in defeating Alberte by the score of 8-2. By excellent fencing, Drew won from Ranlett and lastly, from Hayden. Newton talent will be well represented at the entertainment to be given by the Lend A Hand Dramatic Club of Greater Boston.

It will be Performance II, 1914-1915, and will be presented on Friday evening, March 26th, at 8 o'clock in Huntington Chambers Hall, Boston, for the benefit of Home Relief Work.

It has never failed to amuse the most exacting audience and the characters will be taken by Miss Margaret Taylor, Miss Margaret Estabrook and Miss Dorothy Taylor. Miss Margaret Taylor and Miss Estabrook will each appear in the role of an "Irishman."

The production is in charge of Miss Ethel Howland of West Newton, a member of "The Players," and treasurer of the Lend A Hand Dramatic Club.

The new one-act comedy, "Rosalind," by J. M. Barrie, will be played by Miss Emily Hale, Miss Grace Johnson, and Miss Florence Bacon.

Emily Hale, Miss Grace Johnson, and Miss Florence Bacon.

Miss Marjorie Young, vice-president of the Club, who has studied with Professor Baker of Harvard, will direct the performance. This very playful sketch is conceived in Barrie's best strain and abounds in whimsical situations brought about by an actress who longs for the comforts of middle age, and Miss Emily Hale, in the role of "Rosalind," is perfectly irresistible.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE

voting for 20 years, Mrs. Park said that she was regarded as a very foolish person to question the working of woman's suffrage. A visitor in Massachusetts might expect the same surprised attitude toward herself if she asked how it worked to let little girls go to school.

The effort to get votes for women in this country is in the main an effort to make men and women think in the light of reason and common sense and, not in the gloom of conservative prejudice. Equal Suffrage is the next step along the path of progress in which women have been moving for the last 100 years.

Wherever Woman's Suffrage has been tried the bugbears of fear and distrust disappear in the clear light of actual experience, just as quickly as the spectre of a nightmare disappears when the dreamer awakes in broad daylight.

An intensely interesting event among the members of the younger society set of Newton was the announcement on Wednesday of the engagement of Miss Ruth MacLure, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Laurens MacLure of Grace Church rectory, to Mr. Hollis Sieber Baker, of Aligan, Michigan.

The announcement was made at a tea given by Miss Emily Wellington at her residence on Churca street. It was a very delightful affair and attended by fourteen young ladies, members of a High School Club, and intimate friends of Miss MacLure.

The decorations were elaborately carried out in a color scheme of yenow and green, with ferns and j. In the center was a large mound of table.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—With the opening of the eleventh week of "Common Clay," the record that "Believe Me, Xantippe," the last year's Harvard Prize play, made was tied and the coming week will break all records for runs made in the history of John Craig's Castle Square Theatre. In the meantime the play is drawing houses that justify John Craig's prediction that Cleves Kinkead's play is good for two months to come. It seems fitting that at this time should come the news that a new $500,000 theatre is to be built this summer for John Craig and Mary Young at the corner of Boylston and Ipswich streets. It will be an ideal location and the Craigs feel they may depend upon their clientele to follow them to their new home at the Fenway. The theatre will be ready for occupation by the first of November.

SHUBERT THEATRE—"No grouch could live in the atmosphere of 'Kitty MacKay,' " is the way one New York newspaper described Catherine Chisholm Cushing's brilliant comedy, which is seen at the Shubert Theatre for the second and last week, beginning next Monday, March 29th, "Kitty" comes from New York where the play was enjoyed by audiences that taxed the capacity of the Comedy Theatre for more than a year. "Kitty MacKay" is a saucy, winsome Scottish lassie, with a quick tongue and a vivid imagination, and when the fairy prince comes to take her to London town she takes it all as a matter of course. Those who know, declare that "Kitty MacKay" is the funniest play that has been in New York in years, and since she has started on her trip around the country every city she has visited agrees with the metropolis. William Eliott, under whose direction the play was produced, has spared no expense or detail to make the production a pleasure to the eye as well as to the state mode of it—and you catch it surveyle before the opening curtain will rise at prompt.

MR. BAMBURGH'S LECTURE

The date for the lecture on illuminated manuscripts to be given by William C. Bamburgh at the Newton club, may soon be definitely stated. Owing to the large number of engagements of the ball room at the club house, it is found difficult to appoint a night with which there will not be any confliction of attractions in Newtonville. Mr. Bamburgh is increasing his collection of facsimiles and examples, and is securing photographs of illuminated pages and miniatures from manuscripts in some of the most exclusive libraries in the country. Many do not know that while there are many hundred thousand of great manuscripts in the libraries of the old world, thousands of which are being destroyed during the present terrible and destructive war, there are still some remarkable manuscripts in this country, although they do not number high in the thousands. When it is known or remembered that the writing, illumination and miniature painting of a great book of gospels, or the work of a secular poet, cost the nobles for whom they were prepared sums of money equal to the building of an entire arch in the Harvard Memorial Bridge, it may be seen that much may be said of interest to the moderns about the devoted workers of those times.

One of the most wonderful manuscripts in the world is that which is known as the Grimani Breviary. This book is exhibited in St. Mark's, Venice, and every day one page is turned in the beautifully carved case where it lies on exhibition. Were a visitor eager to see the entire work, it is likely that he would not be permitted to handle the book nor to see the entire work at one time, so that in order to view every page and study the many hundred miniatures in it, the visitor would need to remain in Venice nearly four years and visit the exhibition room daily. In Mr. Bamburgh's leecture many miniatures of this priceless question of having the vote.

Now I want to say that I have been a student for a great many years of the psychology of character and I have had the psychology of character and I have had the privilege of talking with all the great thinkers of Europe and America on the subject and they all agree that fundamentally women are not different than men. Prof. Frank of Berlin has a method of scientific analysis which he uses in connection with the examination of the insane, by which he determines what nervous shock has caused their condition. He also states that women are not any different than men. Had women started in on an equal basis with men and been up against the same knocks and bumps, they would not be any more susceptible to fainting than men are. You know a few years ago it was considered very unladylike not to be able to faint. Now, if it is true that women do not differ fundamentally from men, I cannot help thinking that with the vote they will rise up to their great responsibilities and attempt to purify trade and commerce and politices and religion. Do not forget that this world is not a world that women have created. They have had nothing to do with the building of cities or nations. Even in the realms of religion women come and listen, but man has created the thing. Men build homes and women are invited to the banquet. Wo-

AN HISTORICAL BARN

It is a very old barn and is very dark, the only light coming through the door and a place where the roof has caved in. In one corner is a pile of hay which covers a trap door. The door goes through the floor and leads to a mass of old stones which was once the room of George Washington.

The story of the barn is that when I then we went down to the village and bought some ice cream. When I started to eat mine I found a lump of salt in the fire mouthful. When I started to eat the cone I discovered that was so no concept, and the salt was so or low the salt when I started to eat the cone I discovered the salt was so no content. At night there was no warm water to a mass of old stones which was once the room of George Washington.

THE OLD LOCKET

One day Ethel received in the mail an invitation to a fancy dress party.
"What shall I wear!" she cried in dismay. "I have nothing in the house, and it would take too long to make a costume now."

"I think," replied her mother, who had heard her daughters last words, "That up in the garret is an old trunk in which are some of your grandmother's clothes."
"Just the thing," called back Ethel who was already half way up the garret stairs.

Now the thing, called back Ethel who was already half way up the garret stairs.

Now in all the time Ethel had lived in this same house she had never been up in the garret, but once before, and then only for as hort time. Over in the corner stood an old trunk, and to this she went. She lifted the cover and a sweet violet perfume filled the air.

On the ton tray was a beautiful old.

and a sweet violet perfume filled the air.

On the top tray was a beautiful old-fashioned gray and pink silk, trimmed with lace which looked handmade. She picked it up not too carefully I fear and put it on. Just as she turned to do downstairs something fell out of the folds of silk and fell softly to the floor. She stooped to pick it up, supposing it to be her handkerchief, but what was her surprise to find it to be an old fashioned locket. It was curiously carved and a fine gold chain hung over her arm. She opened it and saw a picture of her mother's mother and father when they were very old. She thought at first that the woman in the picture was her own mother so closely did it resemble her.

She held up her skirts, and in gray high-heeled slippers, ran down the garret stairs and showed the locket to, her mother.

That girl is now almost as old as the person in the picture, and if you go to her home you will see among her old keepsakes an old locket curiously carved, hanging on a fine gold chain.

—Helen Sheldon.

If you want to live in the kind of a town you like, You needn't slip your clothes in a grip And start on a long, long hike.

You'll only find what you left behind, For there's nothing that's really new, It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town, It isn't your town—it's you!

Real towns are not made by men afraid Lest somebody else get ahead, When everyone works, and nobody shirks,

You can raise a town from the dead.

THE BELLERE

Automatic Train Stopping Machinery Company

Which is a Corporation established under the laws of Massachusetts with a capital stock of $100,000. The Bellere invention has been found by all competent people to be the most complete, simple and surest device known to Mechanical Science.

It is important to know that a train with this apparatus stops automatically when a danger signal is up. The train comes to a complete stop without the aid of the engineer, and even if he does not pay attention to the danger signal, or if he should be negligent in the discharge of his duties. The people know that it is only one year ago that the N. Y., N. H. & H. R.R. Co. had three disasters, and many people were killed and wounded which brought a great deal of mourning to many families. There have been a great many lives lost during the past years, and if trains were furnished with this apparatus no more disasters would be heard of. This apparatus will stop the train gradually without a shock, and works mechanically automatically without the need of electricity or any other power, and this is a very valuable device in stopping steam locomotives, electric trains, elevators and electric cars. The value of an invention is in the direct relation of its usefulness and of the generality of its use. It means public safety and protection of Human lives.

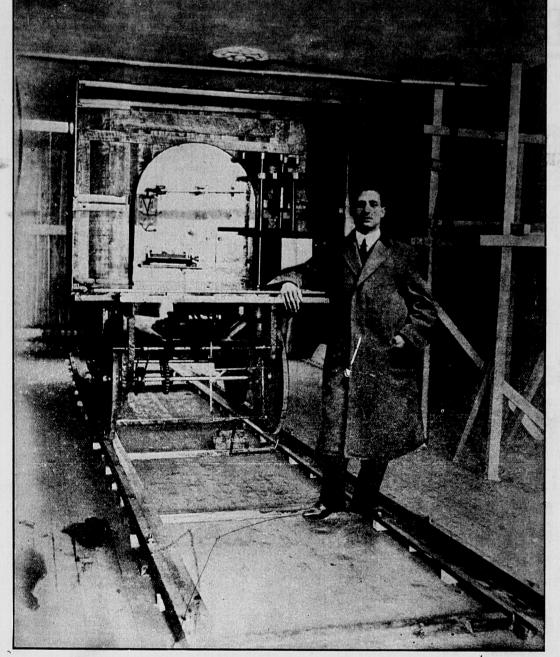

It will eventually be compulsory for all Railroad Companies to safeguard the lives of all travelers to use the Bellere apparatus, so that the production of this simple device will be great and continuous. A great gain has already been attained by the stock holders. The Bellere device is an automatic apparatus which stops the train at any velocity. This apparatus will be exhibited at the San Francisco Exposition before the Scientific and Industrial World, who will have an opportunity to see what this wonderful genius has accomplished for the prevention of the many railroad disasters and saving of

The press has spoken highly of this invention. The apparatus has been shown in Boston before many intelligent people, who admired it while stopping an engine which was running at great velocity.

A limited number of shares are on sale, and cost $7.00 each, which can be obtained by applying to the Bellere Automatic Train Stopping Machinery Co., 256 Hanover Street, Boston, Mass., or at the Nonantum A. A. Hall on the night of the exhibition, March, 29, 1915, at 8 p. m.

Referring to the congestion caused by the trolley cars in Nonantun square, would not the simplest plan be the easiest way out of the difficulty?

All the plans that have some of the conveniences of travel without a commensurate benefit. The occasion was an informal celebration of Mr. Stratton's birthday, and the Social Club of which Mr. and Mrs. Stratton are members, arranged the affair so cleverly that Mr. Stratton was taken completely by surprise, when his friends assembled at his residence and showered him with congratulations.

The hottest of the flames surrounded the silos, and other similar cases can be found.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

The following recent editorial from the Boston Globe should lead to similar work in this city, where civic righteousness is sometimes a trifle lax.

"In the past men have fought valor-ously for the right or privilege of cast-ing ballots, but at the present time, so far as the United States is concerned, the trouble is to induce all citizens to go to the polls.

Compulsory performance of this public duty, with penalty for neglect fixed by statute, has been discussed widely as a remedy, but the plan has never received general approval.

The latest scheme, born out in Brookline, provides for the formation of a Voting League, an organization of volunteers.

It is proposed that members shall pledge themselves to vote at each town election for town officers, and failing to do so for any reason whatsoever they shall agree to pay a forfeit for each omission to vote by handing over some appears for the exceed ing over some amount, not to exceed $2, to the overseers of the poor, as trustees, to be dispensed for charitable

Only 46 percent of the men registered in Brookline participated in the 1915 election.

The Voting League, if established and kept in existence, will either increase that percentage considerably or largely aid through fines the unfortunate and the destitute. It will be an interesting experiment. If civic pride, however, is not sufficient to send voters to the polls, is it probable that they will fine themselves for not voting?"
